Report of Board of Health

The sanitary condition of the town has been very satisfactory throughout the year; not a case of the ordinarily termed “preventable” disease. diphtheria, typhoid fever or scarletina, has originated within the village limits.

Measles, in a comparatively mild form, made a thorough canvass of the town during the early summer.

Tuberculous troubles are constantly developing among us, although disinfection of apartments occupied by such patients has been thoroughly carried out. Tuberculous patients themselves are permitted to mingle too freely with the community and the family to make or allow sanitary precautions to avail much until the public becomes educated to the necessity of some form of quarantine.

We would advise that it be made compulsory for every cow that furnishes milk for public use to be tested at least once a year, and that the expense be borne by the town; also would strongly advise all owners of cows for private use to take the same precautions, thus obviating a large element of a tubercula origin, especially among children.

In accordance with Section 2, Chap. 93 of the Public Statutes we have required that all children who had not been vaccinated should be vaccinated before entering school for the year, or present a physician's certificate to the effect that the child's physical condition was such that he or she ought not to be vaccinated. In carrying out the above order seventy children were vaccinated at an expense of $17.50, which amount the town has paid, by our approval.

The sewer connections have been pushed as rapidly as possible without incurring extra expense, the most unsanitary receiving first attention. The coming year will complete the work.

The immunity that the water and sewer system of the town has afforded in the prevention of "water and filth" form of disease, is too obvious to require comment.

Immunity from disease is the highest compliment that can be given any town.

Respectfully submitted,

J. LEAVITT CAIN,
ARTHUR C. BRADLEY, } Board
FRED E. LOVELL, } of Health.

Feb. 26, 1906.

The foregoing figures show the cash receipts have been sufficient to pay interest charges on all outstanding liabilities; also for the construction of mains and house connections, and all expense of maintenance and repairs for the year, and leave a balance in favor of the town on account of the system of sixteen hundred and forty dollars and eighty-four cents ($1,640.84), while the town gets the water it uses for hydrant service, flushing sewers, school building, town hall, engine house, watering troughs, Maple street cemetery and street sprinkling, free.

NORTH NEWPORT WATER SYSTEM.

At the annual town meeting held March 14th, 1905, it was voted to appropriate the sum of four hundred dollars for the purpose of putting water into the cemetery at North Newport, the same to be expended under the direction of the board of water commissioners.

Upon investigation by the board it was found that nothing satisfactory could be accomplished with anything like that amount.

After consulting with the school board, who were very anxious that the schoolhouse should be supplied, the board of water commissioners decided to construct a system that would supply both the cemetery and schoolhouse.

We obtained from Mr. R. G. Smith a title to two springs located in a pasture formerly owned by Jonathan Emerson, the lower spring situated about 2,400 feet north-westerly from the cemetery; also to the right of way across said pasture and the field in front of said Smith's dwelling-house for the purpose of laying and maintaining a line of water pipes from said springs to the cemetery; and in consideration for such rights said Smith was allowed to connect with said pipe line for the purpose of supplying his dwelling house and barn with water.

We then commenced operations by constructing a reservoir at the lower spring eight by eight and one-half feet in diameter and six feet deep, covering the same with a substantial house.

Before we began work the flow of water from the spring was about twenty barrels in twenty-four hours; after the reservoir was completed the flow increased to more than seventy barrels each twenty-four hours.

Starting from the reservoir we laid 526 feet of one and one-fourth inch cement lined pipe, then laid 1,826 feet of one-inch cement lined pipe to a tub in the cemetery, and connecting the schoolhouse, which we are now furnishing with running water.

Finding that we had a surplus of water it was decided, "application having been made for the same," to connect the house of S. T. Farwell and the two-tenement house of F. A. Sibley, also the residence of F. A. Sibley, he to pay the cost of laying the pipe from the cemetery to his house, with the understanding that if the town of Newport shall at any time appropriate the line of pipe running from the cemetery to his residence for the town's use in furnishing water to other parties, the town shall pay to F. A. Sibley, his heirs or assigns, the sum of one hundred eight dollars and eighteen cents ($108.18), it being the amount paid by him to the town for constructing the water pipe line from the cemetery to the line of the said Sibley's real estate.

The system is now furnishing seven streams of running water, with quite a flow of water running to waste at the spring.

School Report

To the Honorable School Board of the Town of Newport:

In presenting to you the first report of a superintendent of schools I propose to dismiss with a word the discussion of attendance, tardiness and such other facts as are usually contained in statistical tables.

The attendance of pupils as judged by percentages in both the outlying and center schools has been good.

In obedience to the board of health, in order to obey the laws of the state, all pupils have been vaccinated or temporarily excused from the same, by written permission of a regular physician, on account of their physical condition.

To turn then to the more important subjects which have been undertaken during the present school year, I wish to speak first of the change in the course of study in the high school.

The change in requirements in the institutions for advanced education during the last ten years has been very great. In order to keep pace with the upward tendency of this standard a change was absolutely necessary.

This change has been made and forms at least the basis for future growth. In the main, the curricula of most schools in America are as good as we know how to make them. Our great problem is to make sure that the pupils learn as much as they study. The parents and community have a right to expect that in the end they shall know considerable about those subjects in which they have been taught and that they shall know how to study further. This kind of efficiency is the real problem of the schools of to-day and cannot be attained in a day.

It is a matter of growth and depends upon the efficiency of the superintendent, the organization of the schools and, above all, the strength of the teaching force through all grades.

It is evident that there will be a great difference in intellectual and moral quality between a generation trained by teachers who are among the strongest persons in the nation and one whose teachers are the left-overs of other professions. The inevitable result of a policy that does not give to teachers the same rewards that persons of equal ability may secure in other lines of work is to deter men and women of first-class ability from entering the teaching profession, and in the end to lower the quality of the work done and to diminish their authority in national life.

The danger is one which threatens the intellectual quality of the people themselves. The architecture and appointments of our schools while not extravagant are certainly generous, and if we hold the view that the schools are being supported solely for the pupils now in attendance, the town is doing enough for the schools. But, if we take the view, as I think we should, that only an educated people is capable of self-government and add to that the knowledge that the permanent prosperity of the nation and the happiness of the people depend upon the general character and understanding of all the people, then, we see that whatever moneys the town may wisely spend upon its schools is only an investment and returns the highest rate in interest in the form of greater national thrift, industrial efficiency and commercial prosperity.

I desire to ask your consideration of the two following points which would strengthen the work in all grades :

First. The adoption by the town of the kindergarten as a part of its system under certain limitations of age, and second, the introduction of drawing, which could be successfully done without the employment of a special teacher. Our schools then are in such shape that what is wise or an improvement on the past, in the internal arrangements and methods of school work to give the mind discipline together with due knowledge of a useful and life serving character, may be safely accomplished. There are still open questions: What shall be the extent and scope of each study, what matters shall be learned and what only read or discussed orally in the class room? What shall the child do at home, its extent and kind, and at what age shall such work begin; what time shall be set apart for study and for individual work with pupils, outside of recitation periods, that a more independent sturdiness of mental action may be acquired? In short, whether some of our classes cannot be so subdivided as to allow the utmost individual progress and allow each to acquire what he does acquire in a masterful way.

I desire to express my thanks to the teachers for their cheerful efforts to follow my suggestions and to the committee for their advice and support. In conclusion, may I say to the citizens of the town, that my work has been of great satisfaction to me and I tender my tribute of thanks.

Very respectfully submitted,

F. S. SUTCLIFFE, Superintendent of Schools.
